HONOURMARK

CAMPAIGN ONE-SHEET · FALL LAUNCH

THE CAMPAIGN

WEAR YOUR MA

RK

Every HonourMark piece carries a mark: the hang tag, the stamped antique silver snaps, and the wear you put into it. The campaign sells craft you can see and a jacket you keep, in the same dark, cinematic language as the new site.

GOAL

Launch the new site and sell the fall collection

Drive first visits to the new shop, then convert them with product retargeting and free shipping and returns.

AUDIENCE (ASSUMED)

Men who buy fewer, better things

Bay Area first, then US cities with real weather. They read labels, care where things are made, and keep a jacket for years.

CHANNELS

Instagram, Facebook, Pinterest, display, email

Paid and organic social carry the story. Display and email close the sale. Launch date [LAUNCH DATE], budget [BUDGET].

FOUR MESSAGES

THE MARK

Brand and launch. Attainable luxury outerwear, designed and made in San Francisco.

MADE FOR THE WEATHER

Ventile® proof. A cotton that swells shut in the rain, with no coating and no laminate.

IN THE DETAILS

Where it comes from: Japanese twill, British Ventile, Kentucky snaps, California nappa.

MAKING THEIR MARK

H-Journal. Organic posts and email features built from the interview series.

FLIGHT PLAN

WEEK 1

TEASE

The Men's Collection film as a Reel and Story. Organic first, then boosted to lookalikes of site visitors.

WEEKS 2–3

LAUNCH

Wear Your Mark feed post, link ads, and the launch email to the list. Everything points to the new shop.

WEEKS 4–5

PROOF

Where It Comes From carousel, the details post, Made for the Weather, and Pinterest pins of the Vest.

WEEK 6 ON

CONVERT

Product Stories and display banners retargeted to site visitors, leading with free shipping and returns.
